1. PRE-FIELD DEVOTIONALS

PRE-FIELD PREPARATION—BOOK 1
Spiritual Focus Before You Go
Howard & Bonnie Lisech, Deeper Roots Pubs

These (Books 1 & 2) devotional Bible studies books are specifically designed for the Pre-Field training of STM individuals and teams. Each devotional is written to help team members grow spiritually and evaluate their attitudes and actions before they leave on a Short-Term Missions trip. Just as a pilot has to PRE-FLIGHT his plane before committing his life and the lives of his passengers to the take-off, we need to make sure that we deliberately prepare and "pre-flight" our hearts for service in another culture. Spiritual preparation is ESSENTIAL to gain the most from the STM experience. 7 day (stapled) or 14 day (spiral bound) editions are available.

Question: What are the 3 essential phases of every cross-cultural exposure or missions trip?

Answer: Pre-Field Preparation, On-Field Experience, Purposeful Reentry.

Howard & Bonnie Lisech

1. Pre-Field Preparation

Problem:

Time pressure, distractions, busy culture, work schedules, tourist or consumer mentality, "adventure" attitude, lack of understanding.

Solution:

Insist that every team member prepare their heart for ministry by completing these essential devotional Bible studies before heading out to the field. Provide cost-effective Pre-Field Bible studies.

2. On-Field Experience

Problem:

Tyranny of the urgent for leaders, lack of time to prepare, unexpected ministry schedule changes. Good intentions.

Solution:

Schedule 20-30 minutes before breakfast (or another set time) for team members to be ALONE WITH GOD. Provide cost-effective On-Field devotional Bible Studies to help them grow in their walk.

3. Purposeful Reentry

Problem:

Time and schedule demands for returning students, workers, professionals. Returnees' failure to understand or feel the need for readjusting to their culture can cause serious problems later.

Solution:

People often underestimate reentry stresses. Maximize your STM investment; Follow-up and debrief by providing cost-effective Reentry devotional Bible studies that include helpful reentry questions.

"As leaders we can do a great job of team logistics, but we may become so busy with details we fail to help our team members grow spiritually. Our devotional Bible study/journals lead your team members to a closer walk with God before, during, and after the cross-cultural experience."

2. ON-FIELD RESOURCES

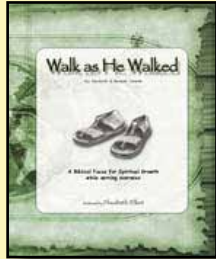

Walk as He Walked

"The Lisechs have had not only missionary experience, but much experience of the faithfulness of God in deep personal trials and afflictions. They have blessed the lives of many young people in training them to be faithful, humble, true followers of the One who loved us and gave Himself for us. I believe this little book would be deeply practical in the preparation of anyone who honestly wants to follow the Crucified."

Abide in The Vine

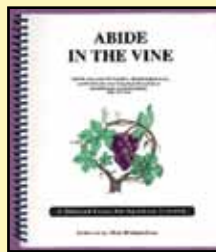

"Glowing embers from their own devotional hearth—that is what Howard and Bonnie share so warmly through Abide in the Vine. Many devotional guides aim solely at God's glory in the Christian disciple's personal growth.

Abide in the Vine pursues the even greater glory God receives when the disciple do not merely grow, but grow to become disciples of the world's unreached people. That is why I am especially delighted to recommend Abide in the Vine!"

Don Richardson
Missionary Author

3. REENTRY RESOURCES

"Who is there for the returning missionary? Family, friends, and the church become key support people who will listen, understand, and encourage the eager and tired returnee.

After the initial sharing and euphoria are over, who stays on to care and listen? Coming Home and Coming Home Again take the readers to the One who is constantly there to comfort and guide. The Lisechs have skillfully and sensitively woven together the principles of God's Word and the issues of readjustment and reentry into each of the studies.

Coming Home is a must Bible study guide for everyone returning home after a time of service in another setting or country. It is a refreshing addition to the meager reentry resources in missions today. Coming Home Again and Returning Home are other excellent choices for those who are making a second or third reentry and have already used and completed Coming Home after their first trip."

Lisa Espinelli Chinn
Cross-Cultural Trainer

Four Essential Reentry Resources

Never underestimate the value of devotional studies that focus on the reentry issues of successfully returning "home" after serving in another setting or culture.

COMING HOME – REENTRY BOOK 1
Howard & Bonnie Lisech, Deeper Roots Publications

Thousands of short-term and long-term missionaries have completed Coming Home or Fishers of Men reentry devotionals with excellent results. The devotional studies and focused reentry questions help anyone returning home as they begin readjusting to their own culture. Coming Home is especially helpful for those who have completed the Walk as He Walked, Abide in the Vine, or Ripe for Harvest on-field devotional studies. Several mission agencies provide this book for their missionaries returning from life in a different culture.

As people return to their home culture from overseas assignments for the second time, this book provides necessary help. Reentry stress is a real issue and returnees need effective tools to help minimize its effects. Lisa Espinelli Chinn says, "Coming Home Again is another great resource for help with readjustment to our home culture after a second or third short-term or long-term mission experience."
